PRP ARCHITECTS

Creating a contemporary environment within a Victorian interior.

Architects PRP, based in a former Victorian factory in Thames Ditton, Surrey, enlisted the services of Crisp Design and James Tobias to refurbish their ground floor office space.

The brief was to create a modern, functional space that enhanced the building's industrial heritage but offered an optimum working environment and maximum storage capacity.

The James Tobias team brought together two individual solutions to create a bespoke solution – the full-height StorageWall, incorporating the SW11 open-fronted modules with SW20 sliding door modules and separate low level lockers, all finished in a white to create a clean, sharp, modern office feel.

James Tobias StorageWall is manufactured to suit specific site conditions, to maximise the space available and to minimise site installation time.
